
Command Reference: SortTable()

Sort a table's rows by sorting values in a column

Version 10.23.00, 2013-09-16

The `SortTable()` command sorts rows in a table by sorting the values in a column..

The following dialog is used to edit the command and illustrates the syntax of the command

Edit SortTable() Command

This command sorts the rows in a table by sorting values from a specified column.
Currently only a single column can be sorted.

Table ID: Required - table to sort.

Column name to sort: Required - name of column to sort.

Command:

SortTable() Command Editor

SortTable

The command syntax is as follows:

```
SortTable (Parameter=Value, ...)
```

Command Parameters

Parameter	Description	Default
TableID	The identifier for the table.	None – must be specified.
SortColumns	The names of columns to sort, separated by commas. Currently only a single column can be specified.	None – must be specified.